

TRAINER TRACK PROFILES JUMPS 2019/20

Your Essential Trainer Stats for The UK Winter Jumps Season

RACING TO PROFIT LTD
JOSH WRIGHT

Members Introduction

What follows is the 2019/20 Trainer Track Profiles stats pack for all UK jumps tracks that stage racing during the main 'winter' season. As always, a separate report will follow next Spring for the five 'Summer Jumps' tracks. A separate report looking at Ireland may also follow asap.

Below I explain this year's 'template' and the profile I've used when researching the stats.

I have made a couple of changes to last year's report.

Firstly, all stats focus on the previous five+ years' worth data, from the start of 2014.

Secondly, I have also researched a trainer based 'handicap chase micro system' for each track, where applicable. There's a handful of tracks where I couldn't find anything.

All horses that qualify against the stats that follow will be listed in Section 2, as has always been the case.

The horses that qualify against the new 'handicap chase micro systems' will also be listed in section 2. In time I hope these 'system' selections will be profitable to back systematically, but time will tell, and I wouldn't dive in just yet. They will be a useful 'starting point' and another element to help with my own 'tipping' endeavours.

It's been slow going on the 'strategy' front in 2019 to date but Jumps S1 and S3A# should continue to be profitable in the months ahead. The likes of Jumps S4 and W1 continue to provide a decent 'way in'.

As always, you're free to use this report, and the qualifiers, in any way you please. However, bar the advised strategies (S1/S3A#) it isn't advised to back all qualifiers systematically. In the weeks ahead I will try and do more work on how to use them as 'starting points' etc or as part of your own race analysis.

If you spot any errors, do shout!

This report wouldn't be possible without the excellent Horse Race Base, so my thanks to Chris as always.

Handicap Chase Micro System

The above template has been the basis for this year's 'trainer track profiles'.

Hopefully it's all rather self-explanatory. The 'general race types' and the 'micro angles 1 & 2' focus on 'standard' handicaps and exclude any 'novice handicap' stats.

The 'micro angles' combine both standard handicap hurdles and chases, unless stated.

The 'going' micro just focusses on 'heavy' ground and what trainers may excel in such conditions.

I've also introduced 'Saturdays' as there's some logic for why trainers may target meetings on this day – mainly prize money / the experience of owners.

Where you see an ES+ (Elite Squad+) this just indicates that the stat has 10 or more winners in the research period, with a 25%+ win strike rate. I add the ES+ next to the horse when listed in Section 2.

For a stat to appear within the profile there had to be at least 5 winners and a 19/20% win SR.

I think that's it. Let's crack on...

As always all tracks are listed in alphabetical order...
