

Glorious Goodwood + The Galway Festival 2020

It's nearly time for one of the most entertaining racing weeks of the summer. I do enjoy a bit of Glorious Goodwood & Galway and in recent years haven't done too badly at all.

In this report there are a few stats pointers for both meetings. For Goodwood there are a handful of trainer/jockey combos to note, and two trainers who have a decent record over certain distances. I've tried a 'less is more' approach this year, including for Galway where I've highlighted a couple of angles for Messrs Willie and Thomas Mullins. What with the usual daily content and a few Class2+ handicap race pointers (stats/trends/trainer records) there should be enough to get stuck into. I will post any 'qualifiers' in the daily posts, to use as you please.

With any luck some of the stats may work 'systematically' but in this micro festival climate there's always a chance they don't. However, you can absorb the stats and make your own decision. Hopefully they fire out a few tasty winners for fun stakes. I'll be using them, and the usual daily content, as a 'way in/starting point', hoping to build on this year's Flat tipping profit, which stands at nearly +70 points as I write. My main tipping/analysis focus will be on Glorious Goodwood however there is the odd race from Galway I struggle to leave alone, including The Plate.
