ROYAL ASCOT 2026: Trainer & Jockey Angles

Introduction

Hello! Thanks for reading this free report. Inside you can find 12 trainer angles, and two jockeys to keep onside.

I have looked back at the last ten meetings, and dived into those trainers with at least 5 winners in the period. As always with trainer angles, I'm trying to find the conditions/ race types/ horses etc that they've done well with previously at Royal Ascot, in the hope, and some expectation that as creatures of habit, some will keep repeating the feat, hopefully this year! As always, historical performance is no guarantee of future success.

With such angles, 'sample sizes' are always small and some caution is advised. All of these top trainers have, and will have, 'blank' years, such is the competitive nature of RA and the quality of stock they have can vary year to year. It is always worth noting current 'trainer form', with whatever metrics you use.

I would be surprised if this 'portfolio' worked 'systematically' (backing all) but these angles should fire out winners and offer a decent 'way in' to races before further study. For example, for some qualifiers, their chances will be limited due to their draw (historically you've needed to be higher on straight course, for example) and on the round course, it can be very hard to win from out the back unless the pace collapses.

It is the best global racing week of the year and one to enjoy. The puzzles do not get any tougher, but the satisfaction is at its highest when you are right. Hopefully what follows can help you.

Qualifiers will be posted in the free RTP Telegram Chat Group (HERE >>>) and on my Blog.
